

Promptings

Kody Bateman, Founder and Chief Visionary Officer

kody@promptings.com

promptings.com

Chief Visionary Officer, Kody Bateman announces a rebrand launch of Promptings

Promptings, a Salt Lake City-based company, launched today as a new network marketing company offering intuition-based human connection products and income streams stemming from a 20-year old business model.

Based on the foundational formula of the Promptings Process philosophy, all of the Promptings products help Affiliates and customers act on their inner and outer promptings. This helps them as they develop stronger relationships with themselves and the people around them.

“There is a special energy you feel when sending appreciation and kindness out to others. The companies I have built the last 20 years have all been based on sending out appreciation and kindness through acting on your inner voice, your promptings. With this Promptings rebrand, I feel we are more connected to our mission, our values, and our users with our story. We are very excited to streamline our products within the Promptings company and provide an even easier way to change the world with positivity, one prompting at a time.” - Kody Bateman - CVO

Promptings offers both an Affiliate program and a Customer Referral Program. Promptings Affiliates earn an income from multiple product offerings, create their own schedule, help people build relationships, all while making the world a better place. Promptings Customer Referral Partners can share a referral link with others to earn credits for use toward all products.

Promptings shares a genuine, heartfelt way to do business, to find financial success, to create relationships, and to grow personally and professionally.

###